

Quantum control of spins and photons at nanoscales

Mikhail Lukin

Physics Department, Harvard University, Cambridge MA 02138, USA

We will discuss our recent work on developing new approaches for quantum control of single spins and single photons localized to nanometer dimensions. Novel applications of these techniques to problems such as nanoscale magnetic sensing will be described.